Dr. Bose is a first-generation American whose parents emigrated from India. His parents came to the United States for a better life for themselves and their children. The American Dream of "Life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness" inspired Dr. Bose's service in the military and dedication to our veterans, and drives his passion to educate Americans about their own health and well-being.

In addition to his emergency department practice and speaking engagements, Dr. Bose hosts a weekly CBS health news segment, has been featured on The Discovery Channel hit TV show "Untold Stories of the ER," and has been a guest and consultant for "The Dr. Oz Show." Dr. Bose is also active in local veteran organizations and volunteers for "Show of Support," an event in Midland, Texas for injured veterans who enjoy deer hunting. He authored the textbook High Yield Emergency Medicine, and is founder and CEO of the medical education companies StudyNCLEX.com, TexasJurisprudence.com, LLSAprep.com, ConCertPrep.com, ABEMprep.com, and InTrainingPrep.com.
