

Metro bus investigation; Changes to DC mental health services; Helping soldiers with PTSD

February 22, 2012 - 02:36 PM

Today on NewsTalk, guest-host Jennifer Donelan spoke with ABC7's Kris Van Cleave about Metro bus drivers caught speeding and running red lights.

We also took a live look at a ground breaking ceremony for the new Smithsonian Museum of African American History and Culture.

Steve Baron, director of the DC Department of Mental Health, discussed the settlement of a 1974 lawsuit filed by psychiatric patients seeking changes in their treatment options.

And Dr. Sudip Bose talked about helping soldiers suffering from Post Traumatic Stress Disorder.
